

In recent years convenient stores have expanded tremendously in the cities. It takes on average ten steps for one to move from one convenient store to another. With the market in saturated state, how could 7-ELEVEn increase their revenue to survive this competitive environment?